From Saturday Auguſt 27. to Tueſday Auguſt 30 1737.

Hampton Court, Auguſt 26.

THIS Day the Right Honourable the Earl of Arran, Chancellor of the Univerſity of Oxford, with Dr. Niblett the Vice Chancellor, and his Grace the Archbiſhop of Canterbury, attended by ſeveral Heads of Houſes, Doctors in the ſeveral Faculties, Maſters of Arts, and other Members of that learned Body, waited on his Majeſty in their Formalities; and being introduced by his Grace the Duke of Grafton, Lord Chamberlain of his Majeſty's Houſhold, Mr. Vice-Chancellor preſented the following Addreſs, congratulating his Majeſty upon the Birth of a Princeſs.

Moſt Gracious Sovereign,

WE your Majeſty's moſt dutiful and loyal Subjects, the Chancellor, Maſters and Scholars of the Univerſity of Oxford, with all Humility beg Leave to offer to your Majeſty our moſt ſincere Congratulations upon the Increaſe of your Royal Family by the Birth of a Princeſs.

The many Bleſſings deriv'd upon this Nation by your Majeſty and your illuſtrious Houſe, muſt engage all your Subjects to think themſelves nearly intereſted in every Event that brings Joy to your Majeſty, and with Hearts full of Gratitude to adore that Providence which opens to them the pleaſing Proſpect of the Continuance of their National Happineſs, by adding to the Number of your Royal Offspring.

We are deeply ſenſible of the many Bleſſings we enjoy in common with all your Majeſty's Subjects under your auſpicious Government; we want Words to expreſs the grateful Sentiments we feel, while viewing theſe ancient Seats of Learning in a ſafe and flouriſhing Eſtate under the kind Influence of your Majeſty's Favour and Protection, we have this further Satisfaction, that we can promiſe ourſelves the Perpetuity of theſe Bleſſings in your Royal Family.

We therefore moſt gladly embrace this Opportunity of repeating our Aſſurances to your Majeſty, of our inviolable Fidelity to your Royal Perſon and Family; and as a prevailing Senſe of Religion among your Majeſty's Subjects will ever be found the beſt Support of your Government, it ſhall be our conſtant Endeavour to form the Minds of that Part of the riſing Generation which is committed to our Care, into a dutiful Submiſſion to your ſacred Authority, upon the laſting Principle of Piety to that all Powerful Being, by whoſe good Providence your Majeſty is happily ſet over us.

May your Majeſty long reign in the Hearts of a willing and obedient People; and may your Subjects all conſpire to render your Government as eaſy and happy to your Majeſty as it is beneficial to theſe Kingdoms.

Dated in the Convocation Houſe under the Seal of the Univerſity, the Twenty fourth Day of Auguſt, in the Year of our Lord, 1737.

To which Addreſs his Majeſty was pleaſed to return this moſt gracious Anſwer.

I Thank you for your Congratulation upon the Birth of a Princeſs. The Aſſurances you give me of inſtilling into the Youth committed to your Charge, Principles of Piety towards God, of Duty and Affection to me and my Government, and of Zeal for the Proteſtant Succeſſion in my Family, cannot but be very agreeable to me, and will always entitle you to my Favour and Protection.

They all had the Honour to kiſs his Majeſty's Hand.

They were afterwards introduced to her Majeſty by the Right Honourable the Earl of Grantham, her Majeſty's Lord Chamberlain, and Mr. Vice Chancellor made their Compliments to her Majeſty in the following Speech.

May it pleaſe your Majeſty,

THE Univerſity of Oxford, ever ambitious of being admitted into your Majeſty's Preſence, humbly beg Leave to congratulate your Majeſty on the happy Increaſe of

of the Royal Progeny by the Birth of a Princeſs; a Bleſſing which promiſes no leſs Proſperity to theſe Nations than Satisfaction and Comfort to your Majeſty.

Our Teſtimony of Joy, Madam, on this Occaſion, is but a juſt Return to your Majeſty, for that affectionate Regard which you have ever ſhewn to Learning and Piety, and for the many Inſtances of Bounty and Favour conferred by your Majeſty upon this Univerſity.

Permit us, Madam, to enjoy ſome Share in that Pleaſure and Satisfaction which ariſe to your Majeſty from this gracious Diſpenſation of Providence: Permit us to look upon this Increaſe of your Majeſty's Family, as a further Security to our eſtabliſhed Religion, and the Welfare of theſe Kingdoms to ſucceeding Generations.

May your Majeſty's great Example, which has already ſo happily influenced thoſe immediately deſcended from you, be conveyed with all its Virtues to your Childrens Children and their lateſt Poſterity.

To which her Majeſty was pleaſed to return a moſt gracious Anſwer; and they all had the Honour to kiſs her Majeſty's Hand.

They had afterwards an Entertainment given them.

St. James's, Auguſt 27.

This Day the Reverend Dr. Niblett, Vice Chancellor of the Univerſity of Oxford, and his Grace the Archbiſhop of Canterbury, attended by ſeveral Heads of Houſes, Doctors in the ſeveral Faculties, Maſters of Arts, and other Members of that learned Body, waited on his Royal Highneſs the Prince of Wales in their Formalities; and being introduced by the Right Hon. the Lord North and Guildford, Lord of the Bed Chamber in waiting to his Royal Highneſs, Mr. Vice Chancellor made their Compliments in the following Speech.

May it pleaſe your Royal Highneſs,

THE Univerſity of Oxford, always deſirous of paying their Duty to your Royal Highneſs upon every proſperous Event that attends your Perſon and Family, moſt gladly embrace this Opportunity of offering to your Royal Highneſs their moſt ſincere Congratulations upon the Increaſe of your Family by the Birth of a Princeſs.

It is impoſſible to expreſs the joyful Sentiments we feel on this happy Occaſion: With the utmoſt Pleaſure and Satisfaction we ſee the Foundations of our own Security, together with the Happineſs of your Royal Highneſs, enlarged by this Addition to your Family; and look upon it as a ſure Preſage of many Bleſſings to be derived down through your Royal Highneſs to lateſt Poſterity.

May your Royal Highneſs always enjoy a large Share of that Happineſs, which you are ſo ever ready to beſtow upon others! May thoſe many amiable Virtues, which now ſhine forth with ſo muſt Luſtre in your Royal Highneſs, and which ſo juſtly endear you to all his Majeſty's Subjects, deſcend to a numerous Progeny! May every Branch of your illuſtrious Family prove as great a Bleſſing to your Royal Highneſs, as we promiſe ourſelves they will do to theſe Kingdoms.

To which his Royal Highneſs was pleaſed to return this Anſwer.

Gentlemen,

IT is a great Addition to my Joy to ſee the Share you take in the augmenting and ſtrengthning of the King's Family.

I return you my Thanks for the good Opinion you have of me, and ſhall try in all Times to deſerve it by my hearty Zeal for the Good of the Publick, and by my Wiſhes for the Welfare of your learned Body.

They all had the Honour to kiſs his Royal Highneſs's Hand.

And had afterwards an Entertainment given them.

Hampton Court, Auguſt 29.

This Day Dr. Wilcox, Vice Chancellor of the Univerſity of Cambridge, and his Grace the Duke of Newcaſtle, High Steward of the Univerſity, attended by ſeveral Heads of Houſes, Doctors in the ſeveral Faculties, Maſters of Arts, and other Members of that learned Body, waited on his Majeſty in their Formalities; and being introduced by his Grace the Duke of Grafton, Lord Chamberlain of his Majeſty's Houſhold, Mr. Vice Chancellor preſented the following Addreſs, congratulating his Majeſty on the Birth of a Princeſs.

To the King's moſt Excellent Majeſty.

The humble Addreſs of the Chancellor, Maſters and Scholars of the Univerſity of Cambridge.

Moſt gracious Sovereign,

WE your Majeſty's moſt dutiful and loyal Subjects, the Chancellor, Maſters and Scholars of your Univerſity of Cambridge, humbly beg Leave to congratulate your Majeſty on the happy Delivery of her Royal Highneſs the Princeſs of Wales, and the Birth of a Princeſs.

We are deeply ſenſible of the many and great Bleſſings we enjoy under your Majeſty's moſt gracious Government, and how entirely all that is dear and valuable to this Nation depends on your Majeſty and your Royal Family.

Every Increaſe therefore of the Royal Progeny muſt be a new Subject of Joy, as it gives us a pleaſing Proſpect of the Continuance of our preſent Happineſs, and confirms us more and more in our Hopes, that our moſt excellent Conſtitution, as ſettled at the Revolution, will be delivered down to all ſucceeding Generations.

and

The peculiar Favour and Protection your Univerſity hath received from your Majeſty, calls upon us to diſtinguiſh ourſelves in all Inſtances of Duty, and we humbly preſume to renew our repeated Aſſurances of our Zeal and Affection for your Perſon and Government.

May the good God grant your Majeſty to reign long over us in Health and Glory: May you be happy in your whole Royal Family, in dutiful and loyal Subjects, and in the Succeſs of all your great Deſigns for the Proſperity of your People.

To which his Majeſty was pleaſed to return this moſt gracious Anſwer.

I Take very kindly this dutiful and loyal Addreſs; and thank you for your Congratulation upon the Birth of a Princeſs. Your conſtant Zeal and Affection for me and my Government, you may be aſſured, will continue to you, in the fulleſt Extent, my Favour, Protection, and Encouragement.

They all had the Honour to kiſs his Majeſty's Hand.

They were afterwards introduced to her Majeſty by the Right Honourable the Earl of Grantham, her Majeſty's Lord Chambarlain, and Mr. Vice Chancellor made their Compliments to her Majeſty in the following Speech.

May it pleaſe your Majeſty,

TO accept the Congratulation of the Univerſity of Cambridge upon the Birth of a Daughter of their Royal Highneſſes the Prince and Princeſs of Wales.

The greater any Bleſſing is, the greater muſt be the Anxiety and Sollicitude occaſioned by the Fear of loſing it.

What Happineſs is it to this Nation, not only to enjoy all that Subjects can wiſh, but to have all the Certainty there can be, that their Bleſſings will be continued down to the lateſt Ages, in a numerous and increaſing Royal Family, deſigned by Providence to bleſs the World.

Permit, us Madam, to expreſs the Senſe we have of our Happineſs, and humbly to offer our ſincere Wiſhes for Proſperity to your Majeſty and your whole Royal Family.

They all had the Honour to kiſs her Majeſty's Hand.

They had afterwards an Entertainment given them.

Whitehall, Auguſt 29.

This Evening the Princeſs, Daughter of their Royal Highneſſes the Prince and Princeſs of Wales, was baptized at St. James's in his Royal Highneſs's Apartment by his Grace the Lord Archbiſhop of Canterbury, and named Auguſta. The King being Godfather was repreſented by his Grace the Duke of Graſton, Lord Chamberlain of his Majeſty's Houſhold; the Queen being Godmother was repreſented by the Counteſs of Burlington, one of the Ladies of her Majeſty's Bedchamber; and the Dutcheſs Dowager of Saxe Gotha the other Godmother, was repreſented by the Viſcounteſs Torrington, one of the Ladies of her Royal Highneſs's Bed Chamber. His Royal Highneſs the Prince was preſent, as was her Royal Highneſs ſitting on a Bed of State, the Lords and Ladies of their Bed Chambers attending. The Font and Flaggons uſed for the Royal Family, were upon this Occaſion brought from the Tower to St. James's.

Admiralty Office, Auguſt 6, 1737.

His Majeſty having been graciouſly pleaſed, by his Warrant under his Royal Sign Manual, dated the 10th of June, 1733, to eſtabliſh certain Rules and Orders for the better Government of the Charity for the Relief of poor Widows of Commiſſion and Warrant Officers of the Royal Navy: Theſe are to give Notice to all ſuch Widows as aforeſaid, whoſe Husbands died on or ſince the 30th of Auguſt, 1732, that Copies of the ſaid Rules and Orders are lodged with the Commiſſioners of his Majeſty's Navy at Chatham, Portſmouth, and Plymouth, as alſo with the Clerks of the Cheque at Deptford and Woolwich, and the Naval Officers at Harwich, Deal, and Kinſale, where they may be informed of all Particulars which entitle ſuch Widows to the Benefit of the ſaid Charity, and receive the proper Certificates for that Purpoſe: But ſuch Widows as live at too great a Diſtance from the Places abovementioned, may apply by Letter to Thomas Corbett, Eſq; at the Admiralty Office, who will ſend them all neceſſary Information.
